

CURRENT JOB OPENING:

Associate Veterinarian

Whether you are a new graduate seeking employment for the first time, or you are an experienced veterinarian looking for a change, we understand how daunting and stressful job seeking can be. We've all been there. Please know that finding the right fit – a good match – is equally as important to us as it is to you.

If you are ready to practice veterinary medicine:

In a privately owned animal hospital where you can use your education, knowledge and skills to diagnose and treat - rather than following corporate mandated "cookie-cutter" protocols.

- Alongside two outstanding veterinarians who bring a combined 38 years of experience (and are willing to mentor an exceptional new graduate - if applicable to you).
- Supported by a loyal and competent staff of 20 caring professionals.
- Inside of a 6,000 sq. ft. facility complete with the equipment and supplies you'd expect in a busy, fast-paced small animal hospital setting treating dogs, cats, birds and exotics.
- In accordance with a "do what it takes" attitude while always keeping both the client's and patient's needs top of mind.
- Within a tight-knit community of loyal pet owners who care enough to continually refer their family, friends, and coworkers to us - because above all else - our staff has earned the clients' trust.
- While living in the Greater Mercer County area in close proximity to the Appalachian Mountains and outdoor recreational areas with opportunities for hiking, skiing, fishing, camping, etc while simultaneously enjoying a reasonable cost of living

If you've nodded your head YES to the above statements and want to work, then we want to meet you! Please take a few moments and email your resume to: streitholly@gmail.com. The sooner you start the process, the closer you'll be to meeting your job search objective.

If you're still not sure, perhaps hearing directly from one of our associate veterinarians will help:

"I joined All Creatures Veterinary Clinic in 2011 and I can't imagine being anywhere else. As a veterinarian, the caseload and variety have allowed me to continue learning and expanding my skills. As a parent, the flexible schedule is so important to me, because it means I rarely miss family events. Combined with these, a positive work environment, client and patient centered service, and a strong community presence, and it's a clinic that I'm proud to call home." ~ Katie Hughes, DVM
